foreword

The Howrah Colour Salon of 1972 has come once again following close upon Holi, the colourful Indian Spring Festival. To us artists and Art-lovers, this salon represents an international festival of the human spirit, more holy than Holi, and more colourful,—a true festival of the human spirit, through a medium of communication that transcends all barriers of geography, politics, language or creed. May the bonds of love for man and love of truth expressed through beauty, continue to bind us all,—artists, spectators and organisers for ever.

This year's salon has brought with mixed feelings of joy and disappointment. The special recognition accorded to our salon by the P.S.A. with two gold medals presented by its Colour Slide Division and two silver medals by the F.I.P. in that context are matters of pride and joy for all of us as are the beautiful entries themselves. On the otherhand the disturbed condition of the country and the resulting prevention of a considerable number of slides sent by eminent artists from reaching us even upto the time of judging are matters of much regret and loss to the entrants, sponsors and spectators alike. However, we are glad that this and many other difficulties notwithstanding we received a really large number of entries from entrants hailing from all parts of the world, as our salon statistics clearly show.

While I congratulate all the successful entrants, to our Salon I take this opportunity to express our heartfelt gratitude to our judges, Messrs B. K. Sinha, Benu Sen, A.R.P.S., E.F.I.A.P., A.N.P.A.S., and Subroto Ray, A.R.P.S., E.F.I.A.P., F.R.S.A. for the difficult task they have so lovingly discharged in spite of the numerous demands elsewhere on their valuable time.

We extend our thanks once more, to all entrants, donars, patrons, advertisers, the authorities of the Howrah Medical Club and the press who have again stood by us this year, as on all previous occasions.

I thank the Salon Committee and all members of our Society, whose untiring efforts spread over many months, have made this Salon a success.

Last, but not least, I thank all of you, respected visitors to our salon, but for whose invaluable presence and appreciation all our efforts and achievements would have been meaningless.

judge's view

Judging the pictorial colour slides entered for the 4th Howrah Colour Salon has been a challenging task and an intensely enjoyable privilege. While the general standard of entries is excellent we would have expected a greater proportion of truly outstanding pictures. Landscapes, in general, leave much to be desired, while the general standard of portraits is very high indeed. Yet, paradoxically enough, there is no portrait-study which may be regarded as being of outstanding merit, while Jorge A. Blanco's silver medal winning marinescape "Rio Amarillo" reminding one of Turner, is unquestionably of superlative excellence. J. M. Palladino's romantic study of a young couple, in delicate pastel shades, touches the tenderest chords of the human heart. Its technique, composition, mood and human appeal, combine to justify the P.S.A. gold medal awarded to it.

The other gold medal, for "Contemporary" photography goes to the striking slide captioned "Durchblick"; the author Alfred Albinger has photographed the most realistic objects and textures with such creative imaginativeness as to achieve an out-of-the-world effect. Those who have watched contemporary trends in pictorial photography, can not have failed to notice the accent laid on human activities and the human face; while realists go for candid pictures, usually taken without the knowledge of the subject, others are experimenting with the pictorial possibilities of the unposed human face fully conscious of the camera. This picture is an example of one such experiment, but goes a step farther: A musk-like; almost severe, face of a little boy looking out of something which reminds us of the shining and fragile focussing screen of a costly plate camera rather than a window, all in ethereal shades of light pink, white and silver, is set against a background of rough wooden planks painted a brilliant red and steel blue. It is a subtle experiment in the expression of a face apparently devoid of all expression and the colour of nearly colourless objects contrasted with vivid colours, and the effect is a departure from realistic representation achieved through a combination of realistic objects of contrasting values! However, in this context I would like to point out that though this year the picture in question clearly conforms to the definition of "Contemporary" photography as laid down by the P.S.A., the words 'contemporary' and 'experimental' are often misleading and misunderstood and may cause difficulties in future. I wish the P.S.A. would use some expression other than "Contemporary" for the purpose of this award, or define the term used, in a more satisfactory manner.

The award for the Best Indian Entry went to Dr. John A. Thomas's "Modern Sunset". With its bold composition and bronze-gold and steel-blue colours, this picture should make its mark in any salon anywhere.

By far the most sensitive picture in the salon is R. Reichert's study of some abstract, plume-like pattern of coloured light. Captioned "Sailing Light", this picture wins the medal for creative simplicity, donated in memory of the young scholar and artist the late Miss Sreelekha Ray, to whom the acme of artistic perfection lay in the greatest depth of expression through the minimum of visual or verbal representation. Reichert combines the romance of colour with the dynamism of a rhythmic form, creating a picture, not of a beautiful object, but of beauty itself; it is, as it were, a picture of the very essence of sublime joy.

It is possible to write pages on the prize-winners alone, and volumes on all the exhibits together, but space restricts my pen. All that I say in conclusion is that a salon of this nature is a platform where cultured minds of the world meet, and reaffirm the ultimate victory of the human spirit steeped in truth and beauty, in a bleeding and strife-torn world. May art live for ever, for humanity's sake.

The 14th February, 1972.

The advertisement is enclosed in a rectangular border. On the left, a cartoon boy with dark hair and glasses, wearing a striped shirt, is shown in profile with his hands clasped near his face, appearing to be in deep thought. Above his head is a thought bubble containing a drawing of a girl with long, wavy hair and a headscarf. In the bottom left corner of the ad, there is a small circular logo featuring a camel, with the word "Camel" written above it. To the right of the boy, the text "High ambitions?" is written in a bold, sans-serif font. Below this, the word "use" is written in a smaller, italicized font. Underneath "use", the words "deluxe" and "camel ink" are written in a large, bold, sans-serif font. In the bottom right corner of the ad, there is a detailed illustration of a bottle of Camel Deluxe Ink. The bottle is dark with a label that says "Camel" and "deluxe ink". The cap is also visible, with "Camel" and "THIS IS" written on it.

"You call it BOAC service.
I call it perfect hospitality."

BOAC or your travel agent will tell you just why!

For some people there is only one airline.

BOAC

takes good care of you

BOAC with Air-India & Qantas

Savlon is considered the best antiseptic. Why?

- Savlon has exceptionally high antibacterial powers against gram-negative and gram-positive organisms.
- Savlon, unlike most other antiseptics, is non-irritant to the skin and damaged tissues.
- Savlon is rapid in action.
- Savlon has persistent bactericidal effect.
- Savlon retains considerable antibacterial activity in the presence of body fluids and other organic matter.
- Savlon possesses excellent detergent properties.
- Savlon does not stain or discolour.
- Savlon has low toxicity : local and systemic.
