HE IS NO MORE WITH US

Arabinda Dey, President of the Society of Photographers since 1966, passed away on 6 December 1977. A man of good taste and judgement, he devoted his life to the cause of art and organisation, and ably guided us to hoist the flag of the Society aloft. With his demise, the Society has suffered an irreparable loss.

May his soul rest in peace.

Our People

Our people have some memorable experiences. Many of them witnessed the spectacular growth of the special steels industry, in which they played a special role. Others helped to extend the transmission and utilisation of electricity into the remotest villages. Many of them have introduced new concepts in industrial fastening. Others have invested their skills in a rapidly growing engineering industry, where specialist applications demand specialised knowledge. And many of them have a common god, metallurgy.

We have people who live a full life, who demand from industry the right to know how they serve the community. We tell them. We train them. We often even retrain them so that they may best develop their inherent skills.

There are over 13,000 such people—men and women, young and not so young, but full of knowledge about how an industry works and what it means to our society. We assist them in different ways to develop their skills and talents. It costs a lot of time, effort and money. But this is one expenditure we never grudge. For we exist because of these people.

With a heavy heart we are organising this year's Salon. Only a few days back Arabinda Dey, who was at the helm of our Society for so many years passed away. His memory will live with us forever and will guide us in the years to come.

As a humble token of our respect to the departed soul, we have named the S.O.P. award for best club entry as "Arabinda Dey Memorial Award" from this year.

This year our International Salon has completed its tenth year. Definitely we enjoy this moment of achievement with humbleness and joy and remember the difficulties that were overcome by our predecessors, so that our task has become easier.

We take this opportunity to express our regards and gratefulness to all the judges who have assisted us for the last ten years to make the selections. We remember the patience with which they shared all the inconveniences with us. Without their wholehearted co-operation, the Howrah Colour Salon would hardly have lasted so long.

We extend our thanks to all entrants, donars, patrons, advertisers, the authorities of Howrah Medical Club, Ghosal Bagan Sangha, the evening Bibaran, the Statesman and other news papers and Akashbani who have smilingly supported us to make our Salon successful.

Special thanks are due to Sri V. Valsara for music and Sreemati Rita Dey for lending voice in the commentary.

In conclusion, I thank all my society members for their tireless efforts and to you all, respected visitors for spending your valuable time to make the Salon a grand success.
